pocket enclosures (4, 6, 8, 10, 12) covering the respective areas of each of the fingers and the thumb are positioned between the knuckles and the first finger joint adjacent thereto. Furthermore, each of the second individual pocket enclosures (3, 5, 7, 9, 11) covers the respective areas of each finger between the second finger joint being adjacent to a distal end thereof and the first finger joint. Further, the second individual pocket with respect to the thumb is positioned between the first finger joint and distal end thereof as shown in fig. 1.

The first and second pocket enclosures are formed specifically to receive the high strength lightweight impact resistant material. Foam or a foam type material (2,4) is directly layered onto the inner surface of the outer cover layers (1,5) to conform together of which the layers are then formed and stitched into a pocket type enclosure with an opening sufficient to receive the high strength lightweight impact material (3). The opening of the individual formed pocked are stitched to enclose the impact material therein.

Furthermore, the respective individual pocket enclosures (3-12) on each of the fingers and the thumb extends side to side as shown in figure 1. Also, a third enclosure pocket (2) of the hand protector extends to substantially cover the area of the back of the hand.

IN THE ABSTRACT

In the abstract, on line 1, "An improved" should be changed to -- A --.

IN THE CLAIMS:

Claims 1-8 have been substituted with new claims 9-12 as follows:

Claim 9. (NEW) A high strength impact resistant hand protector comprising essentially in combination:

a glove including an outer layer with a plurality of first individual pocket enclosures covering the respective areas of each of the fingers and the thumb being positioned between the knuckles and the first finger joint adjacent thereto;

a plurality of second individual pocket enclosures covering the respective areas of each of the fingers being positioned between the second finger joint that is adjacent to a distal end thereof and the first finger joint; wherein the second individual pocket with respect to the thumb is positioned between the first finger joint and distal end thereof;

a third enclosure pocket of the hand protector extends to substantially cover the area of the back of the hand;

a single piece of high strength, lightweight impact resistant material having a layer of impact resistant foam padding that is secured onto both sides thereof being positioned within the first, second and third pocket enclosures;

the impact material received within the respective first and second individual pockets enclosures on each of the fingers and the thumb of the glove extends side to side on the back of the hand.

- Claim 10. (NEW). The hand protector of claim 9 wherein the high strength, lightweight material is chosen from the group comprising titanium, aluminum, steel, padding, nylon, leather, hard plastics or similar impact materials.
- Claim 11. (NEW). The hand protector of claim 10 wherein the high strength, lightweight material dissipates impact force.
- Claim 12. (NEW). The hand protector of claim 9 wherein the high strength impact material with the respective first, second and third enclosure pockets are stitched permanently.

Art Unit: 3765

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claim 9 and its respective dependents are allowable because the prior art does not teach or suggest the recitation therein including a high strength impact resistant hand protector with a plurality of first and second individual pocket enclosures covering the respective areas of each of the fingers and the thumb in combination, a structured impact material is received within the respective first and second individual pockets enclosures on each of the fingers and the thumb that extends side to side on the back of the hand

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
